

What, how and why does Lancaster City recycle?

Mike Devaney, Head of Solid Waste & Recycling for the city of Lancaster will present the city's recycling program at the next public DFL meeting:

Wednesday, September 5, 2007

6:30 – 9 pm

Windolph Room at the

Lancaster Public Library

125 North Duke Street, Lancaster

Recycling is a simple thing each of us can do to make a positive difference on our environment, and the more we know about the process, the more effective we can be. Bring those questions you've had about why we don't recycle milk cartons, what to do with dead computers and used car oil and how to make recycling easier for people.

Event is free and open to all.
